Public Transportation Agency Safety Plan

SFMTA

PTASP Safety Culture

- Safety is everyone's responsibility - from the top of the organization including the Board and Director of Transportation - to the frontline employees

- Employees are empowered to play a role in safety and report safety concerns to senior management

- Safety issues are proactively identified and mitigated – not only reactively addressed

- Safety information is communicated throughout the agency

Requirements

Public Transportation Agency Safety Plan

Develop and certify an Agency Safety Plan

Safety Management System

Implement and operate a Safety Management System

Documentation

Maintain documentation on Safety Plan, Safety Management System implementation and results from processes and activities

Safety Management System (SMS) Components

PTASP/SMS Oversight

- Federal Transit Administration will conduct oversight through the Triennial Review process

- Public Transportation Agency Safety Plan requirements will be added to Federal Transit Administration's comprehensive review guide

- California Public Utilities Commission will conduct state oversight of rail
